

An unbitten bait's information value decays to zero, so the rule converges to the passive two-action limit

